

Following a number of exciting client wins, we are looking for two/three senior account executives or account managers to join us in the New Year. We are looking for dynamic and motivated individuals who are not frightened of hard work but believe they can make a difference.

Events executive

Working on generic clients such as the Port Wine Institute and the Douro Valley you will be a lively, enthusiastic individual with experience of setting up and managing events. You will need experience in the wine industry (with wine qualifications), have proven communication skills and be prepared to travel around the country and put in some weekends during the summer.

French wine specialist

Our French wines division needs an executive with either drinks industry PR experience or wine sector experience. Working for brands as well as generics, you will be an organised, efficient, level headed individual who can communicate well with the media to generate exposure for these high profile clients. You will need to speak fluent French.

PR account manager/senior account executive

Working across a broad range of wine, spirit and restaurant clients, you will already have at least two years experience in PR. You will have built up a network of media contacts, be able to write newsworthy copy and inspire our clients with your creative thinking. You will be experienced in working with brands and be passionate about food and drink.

To apply send your cv and a covering letter to Sue Harris on sue.harris@westburycom.co.uk.