Appellation
Ribera del Duero

Vintage 2018

Variety

88% Tempranillo (Tinto fino), 5% Albillo, 7% Garnacha

Vineyard

Grapes from 100 year old vines, grown on 24 small plots. The vines are goblet style, planted on the slopes of the Sierra de Cervera, in Tubilla del Lago with unique geomorphological and climatological conditions. Production from these vines is less than 4,000 kilos per hectare. The soils are very mixed, clayey, sandy, limestone and stony, well drained, over 900 meters altitude. Manual harvest in boxes.

Winemaking

Grapes selected on the vines, early harvest and fermentation in stainless steel vats. Gentle maceration for 8 days to preserve and accentuate the character of the grapes. Very low sulphite content.

Aging

12 months in oak barrels (90% French / 10% American), then blended and aged in a concrete tanks.

Bottling

Not cold stabilized.

Production

14,500 bottles 75 cl and 300 magnums (1.5L)

TASTING NOTES

Ruby red. Clean with medium intensity. Violet rim. Mineral aromas with nuances of toasted wood. Red fruit and floral aromas. We get spicy notes from the French oak and hints of vanilla from the American oak.

The first sip has a hint of sweet tannins from the wood. There is a balanced acidity, which reduces the sense of high alcohol in the mouth, although this wine is over 13% volume. The flavors in the mouth are slightly different than the aromas. On the nose we had definite wood notes which become red fruit flavors in the mouth. With a medium to long finish the wine goes down very easy.
